Verdi REQUIEM

Evelina Dobracheva soprano
Louise Winter mezzo soprano
Peter Auty tenor Jeremy White bass

The Bach Choir, Chetham's Chamber Choir and Chetham's Symphony Orchestra Conducted by David Hill

Verdi's Requiem has become famous for the thrilling Dies Irae, an unforgettably dramatic evocation of the Day of Judgement. Yet the whole work combines such moments of pure excitement with more reflective meditation on the meaning of human mortality.

Written by an agnostic who rejected organised religion, this requiem is just as relevant in our age as when it was first performed. The music speaks to us in the same powerful language as ever.

The Bach Choir performs Verdi's Requiem together with the brilliant young talent of the Chamber Choir and Symphony Orchestra of Chetham's School of Music. The performance is conducted by David Hill, who is joined by a stellar line-up of soloists.
